The Department of Behavioral Health, Developmental Disabilities and Hospitals (BHDDH) seeks a dynamic, results-oriented executive to serve as its new Deputy Director/Chief Operating Officer (COO). BHDDH, part of the Rhode Island Executive Office of Health & Human Services, serves Rhode Islanders with disabilities and those living with mental illness or substance use disorders. The Department employs a workforce of more than 1,300 and has an operating budget of $430 million. The COO, working with the Director, sets strategy and oversees all operational units within BHDDH, including its three main divisions: Behavioral Healthcare, Developmental Disabilities, and Eleanor Slater Hospital. In addition to guiding and monitoring strategy and operations, the COO works with government, business and community partners to develop and strengthen policies and programs, explore opportunities, and resolve issues. The ideal candidate will have extensive experience in strategic planning and implementation, data analysis, relationship and change management, and driving performance in a complex business environment.
